Welcome new items: The triple-axle Magirus square hood is something to behold – it shines as a multi-functional excavator with a once much used "Fuchs" superstructure. And the legendary "Saturn" combination in the form of a BP tanker truck recalls the grand times of the air-cooled truck from Ulm. With the Unimog U 401, WIKING is closing an historic gap in the series of previous "Gaggenau" all-rounders. And to see out the year in which Wiking-Modellbau celebrated its 85th anniversary, the sixth VW T1 (type 2) appears with the contemporary coffee house theme of the historical WIKING cut-out sheet. Models from new moulds impress with the Mercedes-Benz E-Class S213, the MAN TGS Euro 6 with Liebherr mixer and the Still RX 60 forklift truck with four forks. Fire brigade fans can also look forward to the VW Touareg and passenger vehicle trailer. With the Lemken Solitair and Zirkon till and drill combination and the Solitair with Heliodor, two further attractive agricultural combination vehicles are available as 1:87 miniatures. When it comes to precision agricultural models on the 1:32 scale, there are now two that are making the scenery much more lifelike. The Oehler two-axle ZDK 120 B hay-bale trailer and the Bergmann TSW 6240 S universal spreader are generating further application options for the WIKING tractor group.

WIKING knows what model fans love! And this includes, without a doubt, the logistics theme of major Swedish forwarding company ASG. The traditional model makers are devoting a themed edition to the company which will enrich any forwarding depot. This includes the International Harvester and the Volvo-hooded tanker trailer, along with the associated forwarding company board in brand colours as a cherry on the cake. The model upgrades will also be offering everything at the end of the year that will set the hearts of classic collectors racing. The two-door Volvo Amazon similarly adds some Swedish flare to the range, along with the VW T1 in "Jacobs Kaffee" livery. The two-seater Jeep and Ferguson TE recall the earlier makeshift post-war years in the agricultural sector. In contrast, the mighty "Kaelble" tipper trailer and the square "Denkhaus" forwarding combination represent the automotive awakening of the late 1960s. Anyone wanting to experience the WIKING charm of those years and its model building power can be assured their enthusiasm will be met with a look at the accessories set. The four different sets of hand-painted groups of people demonstrate the quality of the moulds bequeathed by legendary master model maker Alfred Kedzierski for posterity, thanks to his unmistakable yet stylistic signature. The Hanomag Henschel low-loader truck-trailer combination in "Nordkabel" livery and the Magirus TLF 16 fire brigade in 1:160 round out the model update.
