Classic models bring delight – and the new models joining the range which will be available in specialist shops in February are no different. Following a surprise discovery of historic moulds, the Krupp Titan joins the range for the first time with an open flatbed behind it. A splendid WIKING veteran has been created complete with crane boom assembly and the design in the livery of Paul Rosenkranz. The Unimog U 406 makes an appearance in the form of a new combination, pulling the bulk material trailer of "Kohlen

Wuttke", alongside another trailer with number „2“ and „3“. WIKING has created the Seat 600 as a new model along with the VW Beetle 1200 as a police patrol car which is enhanced by the added feature of a loudspeaker. These are joined by the VW Amarok with hard top in the livery of the German Rescue Association and the Mitsubishi Pajero as a THW control vehicle as well as the VW Passat B7 taxi, the Brantner single-axle trailer with high sides and the DHL swap body trailer pulled by the very latest MAN TGX tractor unit. The VW Tiguan joins the range as a convincing N-gauge model of an emergency doctor's vehicle while fans of the 1:32 scale will be delighted with the expanded movement and authenticity that WIKING has brought to its range of agricultural machinery.

In creating the Lehmar MZB72 multi-purpose boat in the livery of the German Rescue Association, WIKING has provided the perfect partner for its new model of the VW Amarok towing vehicle shown overleaf – you couldn't get a more authentic combination of the latest emergency vehicles! When it comes to 1:87 models of the big legendary classics from the automotive world, model enthusiasts can always rely on WIKING. The legendary Jaguar MK II gleams in glossy wine red alongside the Opel Admiral A from 1964 which makes an appearance in the once refined pastel blue. The Ford Mustang Coupé provides a picture-perfect contrast between its glossy black bodywork and the ruby red upholstery inside. The Magirus Saturn flatbed dumper truck in the mouse grey livery of Heitkamp and the Mercedes-Benz L 608 with refrigerating body decorated with the flower power-inspired advertisement for "Dr. Oetker Eisvergnügen" from 40 years ago evoke memories of WIKING ranges from yesteryear. The azure blue Lanz Bulldog and the VW T1 minibus in the form of a Hirschmann van fitted with an aerial demonstrate once more the love of detail of the model-makers at WIKING. And the Kramer wheel loader 280 in municipal orange completes the range of models from the present day.
