It's here at last - the new Golf VI! WIKING's latest 1:87 miniature addition to the success story of the model from Wolfsburg which stretches over three decades. The sixth generation of the compact car which gave its name to a whole class has the same high level of detailing as its predecessors but introduces new design accents with its dynamic line. Historic tractor enthusiasts will be delighted with the Fendt Farmer 2S with movable front-loader in 1:87 while the Lanz Bulldog makes its entrance in 1:160. The traditional model-makers have created a model of the Opel Rekord D, a fire service vehicle with the character of a young-

mer. Another addition to the WIKING range is the new TGX series from MAN - with the latest driver's cab design, of course. And because the WIKING story is so unique, an impressive new publication is now available entitled "WIKING - Kleine Autos, große Liebe". It tells the exclusive story of the brand through numerous stories on collectors and movers and shakers as well as fascinating first-hand reports and previously unseen documents going back seven decades.

return of the legendary hunchback Volvo PV 544 as well as the Mercedes-Benz 220 S. Further proof that WIKING is still devoting attention to classic vehicles in 2009 is provided by the legendary Zettelmeyer tipper which first joined the range 45 years ago - a real success story.
