

NEW MODELS FOR FEBRUARY 2010 THE BULLI FOR TRADESMEN

0926 01 22 VW T5 GP Multivan N-gauge 1:160

0789 01 30 VW T1 crew cab pick-up

0266 40 29 Puch G

0990 68 58 TES set - "60 years of the Technical Emergency Service in Germany"

The VW Bulli crew cab pick-up is legendary and has always been at the very top of WIKING collectors' wish lists. Now the model-makers have created the 1:87 version of the original from the last generation of T1s! The first range of new models for the new decade include the classic T1 with its renowned quality and detail which will guarantee that it fits seamlessly into the successful range of miniature Bullis. Another newcomer to the range is the Puch G as a long-serving 4WD vehicle to swell the number of off-roaders. N-gauge fans have not been forgotten either as WIKING has brought out the latest version of the VW T5 to continue the chronology of its predecessors on a scale of 1:160 too. Among the new additions for February is a limited edition set of Technical Emergency Service vehicles. These attractive TES models show how well-equipped the Federal organisation is.

Even with the dawning of a new decade, it is still a pleasure to see old friends again at WIKING! The model upgrades for February bring four classics right up-to-date by breathing life into the original moulds. So collectors can look forward to the return of the exceedingly beautiful Mercedes Benz 220 Coupé as well as the mighty Mercedes Benz 600, the popular state carriage that is still used for official functions in some countries around the world today. Another vehicle to be upgraded is the Land Rover, this time in the service of the former British Berlin Brigade. Meanwhile, the Opel Ascona B displays the flair of a youngtimer from the late 1970s. The very latest service vehicles complete the line-up of model upgrades: these include the VW Tiguan in the service of the fire brigade, the VW Passat in the livery of German Customs and the VW Touareg in the colours of the Austrian Federal Police.
