

NOVELTIES OCTOBER 2008 THE VISIONARY SCIROCCO

0073 01 32 VW Scirocco

It is different and for that very reason so visionary. The new Scirocco completes the bang up-to-date WIKING model range of VW miniature cars in a scale of 1:87. As a miniature, the sports coupe develops its visual qualities – bold radiator, crisp proportions and powerful shoulders. WIKING miniaturises the Scirocco with numerous intricate details, which produce an impressive image of the original out of the 87-fold miniaturisation.

There is a historical review of the 1:87 scale world: agricultural fans can get the Fendt tool carrier with realistic design detail with the October delivery. WIKING equips the classic vehicle from Marktobendorf with mower and driver. In addition the short bonnet LK 710 from Mercedes-Benz LK 710 is presented as a contemporary dump truck, bringing the 1960s more to life than ever. The Rosenbauer Panther 6x6 makes a grand entry: using the colours of Fujairah International Airport, WIKING miniaturises the airfield fire-fighting vehicle which is stationed in the United Arab Emirates and ensures safety at one of the most important tourist destinations in the Gulf.

WIKING from yesterday to the present day, on land and in the air. The Hamburg police, who have given the deployment helicopter an individual appearance, provide the Eurocopter EC 135 with its role model for sovereign deployment in the Hanseatic city. The Golf Variant, the Tiguan and also the Transporter T5 bring the VW model range in 1:87 up to date, as does the Audi TT. And as a contrast to these, WIKING has four classics at the ready. The Krupp Titan, which pulls the Scheuerle flat bed trailer with freight, is powerful in appearance and outstanding in details. The VW Beetle 1200 and Opel Commodore B are given contemporary colours. And there is a reunion with a WIKING veteran using revitalised designs. The VW 1600 drives into the range with a one-off delivery. N-scale fans can acquire the round baler in the new Claas design and the three cars, the VW Passat Variant, Audi A6 and the Mercedes-Benz E-Class, in up-to-date colours.
